40,000 Margin Expected John B. Elliott, Southern California manager for the Garner movement asserted that the Speaker of the House of Representatives had carried the state by a margin of 40,000 votes over Roosevelt and 50,000 over Al

The uncontested Republican delegation pledged to President Hoover received 7,362 votes in 141 complete precincts, and 75,671 in 947 incomplete precincts, 900 of which were in Los Angeles county.

These return e out predictions that the Texar, said run strong in the heavily populated districts of Los Angeles county, where he was aided by the active support of William G. Mandoor farmer secretary of the Treasury, and by the strong opposition to the state oil control referendum, which was losing and which was opposed by McAdoo. It had been expected that Smith would poll his strongest vote in the two large cities of the state, and that Roosevelt would lead out-state. The complete returns, from scattered precincts in 33 of the state's 58 counties, placed Roosevelt in the lead but was closely pressed by Smith. In Los Angeles Mayor John C. Porter was leading in the fight against his recall on the face of incomplete returns from 448 scattered precincts in the city, the vote being for recall, 42,-

Hope P. T. A. Work For Year Concluded

Final Meeting of Term Is Held Tuesday Afternoon at High School

The last meeting of the year for the afternoon in the library of the High School with Mrs. Dorsey McRae presiding. The conference was in anti cipation of the work for the summer and for next year. The emphasis is to be placed on the child's right to physical health. During the summer the pre-school age children will be examined, and it is hoped that the other children of school years may also be given medical examination and preventative work not only before school opens in September, but also during the nine school months. Carrying on the work of this year many of the same leaders will serve the P. T. A. Council during the year 1932-33. Mrs. Dorsey McRae retains the presidency. Mrs. C. A. Graves, Mrs. Bert Keith, and Mrs. Walter Carter will serve as vice-president. Mrs. Mary Lemley succeeds Mrs, Will Cantley as secre-

The P. T. A. programs will be on health for next year, and the council program for Tuesday afternoon was observance of National Child Health week. Mrs. Renfro spoke on pre-school preparation and its importance. Miss Milburn spoke on mental hygiene, showing an example where the child was handled impropery. Miss Bessie Green gave another example, this time of proper treatment in mental hygiene. Miss Ethridge read the article from "The Children's Charter" on child health,

Mrs. Chester Lester reported on the district meeting at Texarkana, reporting an attendance of 48 from Hempstead county, only two short of the largest representation, which was from Miller county.

Memphian Arrested for Killing Negro After Wife, Daughter Slain

MEMPHIS .- (AP)-Stanley A. Puryear, whose wife and daughter, Aurelia, eight, were hacked to death while they slept in their home here at dawn Monday, late Tuesday was charged with the murder of a negro he said killed them.

The garage operator maintained under persistent questioning of Inspector Will T. Griffin that he fatally wounded the negro after the latter had killed the mother and little girl.

Puryear was arraigned before Squire Louis H. Morris after police were informed his attorney would seek a writ of habeas corpus to obtain his release from questioning officers. He denied the charges and was ordered held to the grand jury. Bail was de-

The garage operator was taken into custody after he and his son, Forter, 12, attended the double funeral services Tuesday. Both underwent lengthy questioning and officers said examinations would be continued. A woman whom officers did not identify also was sought for questioning on the theory that she might throw some light on Puryear's family life.

Nashville Packing Shed Is Destroyed

Blaze of Unknown Origin Sweeps Over Shed and Icing Dock

NASHVILLE, Ark .- The large packing shed of the Graysonia, Nashville and Ashdown Railroad company in Nashville was destroyed by fire at about 9 o'clock last Thursday night, the fire being of an undetermined or gin.
The fire was discovered by neigh bors presumably shortly after it started, and they report that the fire started in the south end of the shed which was 300 feet long, and leaped rapidly to the north end, the witnesses stating that the blaze ran faster than a man could run. The entire shed was ablaze before the fire truck could reach the scene, and had spread to the icing dock. This fire followed another large fire

Mickey Mouse to Appear Saturday

Club for Juveniles at the Saenger Sponsored by Nine Hope Firms

If you see a group of bright-eyed boys and girls leaving the Saenger Theatre, you can be sure they've been istening to Manager Elmer Hecht's explanation of what the Mickey Mouse Club, to be formerly launched Saturday at the Saenger, is, and what t is going to mean for, and to them.

Youngsters of this city are delighted at the thought of belonging to a really truly club with officers and regular meetings and programs 'n everything-just like the associations and clubs mother and dad are so proud of, and in which they take such an interest.

The Mickey Mouse Club, suggested by the Mickey Mouse cartoons in sound, is an organization for boys and girls, with no initiation fees nor dues. Weekly meetings will be held at the Saenger Theatre at 1 o'clock every Saturday, at which the Saenger Theatre will not only be the scene of the meeting, but present a special stage and screen program for the young-

These will be matinee meetings and the programs will be arranged especially for the youngsters, they to have a share in the programs, too!

All boys and girls with talent will not only be given an opportunity to show what they can do, but will be coached and given every encouragement, and the Club will undoubtedly be the means of many gaining names for themselves.

Cowardice in Politics

OWARDICE, as Rodney Dutcher pointed out in a dispatch from Washington the other day, has become one of the most common characteristics in American public life.

Our political leaders, he remarked, possess an extraordinary amount of caution. They fear nothing so much as a real live issue. When they fight they take good care to get all the big guns on their side. They reserve their heaviest blasts for insignificant opponents who cannot fight back effectively.

The commonest explanation for this sad state of affairs is that it is inevitable in a democracy. Office holders depend on votes for their jobs. If they make enemies they lose votes. The pressure to straddle, to compromise, to placate powerful minorities and minority leaders, is almost overwhelming.

Oddly enough, though, a casual glance at American political history will show that this sort of thing isn't in the least necessary. The politicians are revealing, not the fundamental fault of democracy, but their own weakness.

What has happened is that the politicans have made the mistake of underestimating the common sense and good judgment of the electorate.

The greatest figures in American political history are the men who dared to make enemies—the men who were willing to follow their own conceptions of right and trust to the electorate for an accurate understanding of them.

Jackson, Lincoln. Cleveland Roosevelt. Wilson-they were, one and all, fighters, enemy-makers. They knew pol-Birmingham itics, of course; they could compromise when they had to; New Orleans _______10 but they could also adopt an unpopular line of attack and Knoxville stick to it no matter how great the risks to their own personal Little Rock 7 fortunes. And it is worth remembering that the electorate Nashville stood by them time and again.

The cowardice of our politicians, in other words, isn't an inevitable part of democracy. Let a really bold and determined political leader appear today and the response he would get might be astonishing.

The Way We Do Things

ON May 14 there is going to be a big parade in New York City. It is to be a "beer parade," a vast demonstration by people who want the making and selling of beer made legal again, and New York's municipal government is making great plans to help put it over.

Now this is perfectly proper, of course, since the right Chicago of citizens to demonstrate against a law that they don't like Philadelphia is inalienable; but suppose, just for the fun of it, that this St. Louis great parade were going to be put on, not by people who are Brooklyn thirsty, but by people who are hungry?

What would happen ther?

You could make a pretty fair-sized parade out of it. if you enrolled every man in New York who wants something to eat. But would your parade be permitted to move? Try to imagine the sensation that would arise, the thrills of fear that would circulate up and down various patriotic backs, if 50,000 people should try to parade down Broadway carrying placeards saying, "We want bread!"
Unless the New York police handled it differently than they have handled every other demonstration by the jobless, such a parade would not get one block before the cops charged in with clubs swinging. A lot of heads would get busted and next day we would hear all about a dreadful riot.

As it is, thought, there won't be a bit of trouble. The May 14 parade is to be held by the thirsty, not by the hungry. Cleveland The marchers are going to demand beer, which is illegal, in-Detroit stead of bread, which isn't. Consequently nobody will be New York alarmed, no policeman will have to use his club and no march-Philadelphia er will be lugged home on a shutter.

This isn't to say that this beer parade shouldn't be held. That isn't the point. It's just that—well, doesn't the situation seem just a trifle paradoxical? Or, to put it in plainer English, isn't there something a wee bit cockeyed about the way we do things?

Convention Battle Looms

IT is beginning to look as if the Democratic National Convention this summer would be a more exciting and spirited affair than seemed likely a few weeks ago.

No political convention is really exciting when one candidate has the victory cinched in advance; and until recently it looked very much as though Governor Roosevelt would go to the convention with the nomination practically assured. Recent primary elections, however, have made that seem oughly reconditioned and will depart U. S. S. More Powerful than Any Gasoline

The new high-compression motors call for the best motor fuel-Esso. These high-compression motors have reduced clearances. This increases their tendency to knock and means more carbon removal jobs-unless you use Esso. The saving on the cost of one carbon job will more than pay for the extra price on a year's use of Esso.

Esso will also stop unexpected repair bills from gummed-up valves, sulphur or other corrosive elements.

As to performance, give Esso any test for quick starting, acceleration or power against any other fuel and Esso wins.

Whether you think first of your motor or first of your money, either (or any) way you look at it, it pays to use Esso.
